THE BEAUTY TEAM SORT THE GOOD STUFF FROM THE FLUFF

FORTIFYING & INSPIRING
BATH & SHOWER OIL, £39,
AROMATHERAPY ASSOCIATES
ANITA BHAGWANDAS, STYLIST'S BEAUTY
ASSISTANT, SAYS: How much do I love Aromatherapy Associates? Let me count the ways. This frankincense and clary sage bath oil is a drop of calm every morning when you need a hug from the inside.

PRETTY POWERFUL PINK POT
ROUGE, £18, BOBBI BROWN
JOANNA MCGARRY, STYLIST'S BEAUTY DIRECTOR,
SAYS: Nothing comes close to a smudge of Bobbi Brown's Pot Rouge for flagging skin. Now, even better is the Pretty Powerful Pink version. The full price of each pot sold will be donated to Dress For Success, a charity that helps women on low incomes find work.

CELL REVITALISE NIGHT
MOISTURISER, £36, AURELIA
SAMANTHA FLOWERS, STYLIST'S DEPUTY BEAUTY
EDITOR, SAYS: Not only did this calming lavender and rose cream help me sleep better, but my skin looked seriously plumped up the next morning. The whole range has great anti-ageing credentials and is completely cruelty free. It's almost world peace, potted.

NAIL POLISH IN GREEN
DIAMOND, £17, AZATURE
ANITA SAYS: Without any hint of exaggeration, I can steadfastly say that this is the most metallic nail polish I have laid eyes on. Not in a glittery Christmas-meets-Art Attack way, but more in a looks-like-finely-milled-diamonds way. The ooh's and aaaah's from the Stylist office haven't stopped all week.

READY EYESHADOW 4.0
IN THE NEXT BIG THING,
£29, BAREMINERALS
SAMANTHA SAYS: I'm not normally a fan of eyeshadow palettes – there is always one shade I completely ignore. But I can hand-on-heart state I love all these shades equally. Even the shimmering yellow works – layer it with the dark brown to make a smoky bronze.

PENHALIGON'S FRAGRANCE
PROFILING SERVICE, FREE
JOANNA SAYS: Why we love the scents we love is fascinating to me, which is why Penhaligon's Fragrance Profiling Service is such a treat. After sampling the beautiful range of scents, I was matched with LP No:9 (£80 for 100ml). Too pretty to be something I'd usually choose, I now couldn't imagine life without it.
