IN DEFENCE

Some 20 years of research went into Shiseido's new serum, Ultimune Power Infusing Concentrate (from €85) which taps into skin's natural ability to deal with external hazards, aging and emotional stress. Langerhans cells are skin's self-defence army but they become less effective with age. Ultimune aims to restore cell function and bring skin into balance. In tests, 88 per cent of women reported improved skin condition after just four

HANDBAG HERO
The clever Rare Blend Tamer (€16) by Ojon is perfect for on-the-go touch-ups. The lightweight gel formula is combed through hair with a mascara-like wand to tame flyaways, frizz and broken hair. It contains nourishing meadowfoam, macadamia oil (high in Vitamin E), protein-rich wheat and corn and rouge oleifera extract, from the fruit that surrounds the ojon nut, which has a high concentration of antioxidants and essential lipids.

NIGHT WONDER

Make the most of that beauty sleep with Philosophy's Miracle Worker Overnight age-resetting anti-wrinkle moisturiser (€52). The high tech formula targets age-accelerating proteins (known as progerin) and helps 'reset' the age of your skin. It boosts hydration levels and encourage skin's natural repair.

FLOWER POWER

French skincare brand Nuxe's new Merveillance expert range contains an extract from the daylily flower which has been discovered to act on vimentin, a key protein of aging. With three patents, this new formula has a protective function (antiglycation) and also helps to repair (de-glycation). There are five products in the range; a lifting concentrate for visible lines, two day creams, a night cream and an eye cream. From €31.

September's finest lotions and potions.

LIKE A PRO

The new Space NK on Dublin's Grafton Street has brought lots of brands to Ireland for the first time and probiotic skincare line Aurelia is worth investigating. The products contain bio-organic botanicals and are free from synthetic fragrances, mineral oil and sulphates. Check out the Miracle Cleanser (€45), with one of the softest muslin cloths we've ever tried, and the newly-launched Refine & Polish Miracle Balm (€60).

SUPER BOOST

Elemis' iconic Pro-Collagen cream is joined by a super-hydrating version this month. Creation of Pro-Collagen Ultra-Rich (€98) was prompted by Elemis Director of Product and Treatment Development Noella Gabriels' own need for a richer face cream. Ultra-Rich is packed with cocoa butter, sunflower extract, ginkgo biloba and the brand's signature padina pavonica marine algae, providing the same anti-aging power but with a richer formula.

THREE OF THE BEST

DRY SHAMPOOS

A must for this season's casual texture, dry shampoos are perfect for giving fine hair some volume too.

Dynamic (€22.90) by Sebastian Professional. A super fine spray, this is lightly fragranced and is almost imperceptible in hair.

Dry Shampoo (€37) by Show Beauty. Ideal if you hate the feeling of product in your hair, this refreshes and gives great volume.

Ultimate Blends Silky Smoother, Dry Shampoo (€5.49) by Garnier. Performs better than some pricier brands, and there's no chalky residue.

SI! To celebrate the first anniversary of Giorgio Armani's Si, and the arrival of Si Intense, this vanity case is a complimentary gift with a purchase of any 30ml Si fragrances, while stocks last. The new fragrance Si Intense is, as you'd expect, a bolder, deeper take on the modern chypre of the original. From €85/50ml. Available now at Brown Thomas and nationwide from this month.

HAIR SOS

Parched, stressed out hair needs a little extra care and the Damage Repairing & Rehydrating Shampoo (€18.50) by Kiehl's has been designed to treat such parched tresses. It contains moringa tree oil and hydrating hyaluronic and ceramides to gently cleanse delicate, damaged hair. It's great for dry hair types too.
