

BADGLEY MISCHKA

REVITALISE
& GLOW SERUM

£47, by Aurelia Probiotic Skincare
A lightweight formula based around probiotics to soothe inflammation within the dermal layers, help fight off environmental aggressors and strengthen the skin's barriers. Smells reassuringly expensive and leaves you with a complexion that invites questions such as, 'Have you been away?'

POUR FEMME EDP

£54 for 50ml, by Dolce & Gabbana
A complex mixture of fruity (raspberry), citrus (mandarin), floral (jasmine, orange blossom) and foodie (vanilla) notes - everything you might want in a scent. It's impossible to put your finger on what it is you love; it's mysterious in just the right way.

FINE TO FULL BLOW-OUT SPRAY

£6.99, by John Frieda
A bit of oomph for the hair. Spray from root to tip to prep the hair before blowing out with a barrel brush. Leaves you with volume and shape that looks salon-worthy.

LE ROUGE LIPSTICK

£24, by Givenchy
A rich pigment that hydrates the lips contained in a stylish leather case; all my beauty and fashion dreams have come true. The nude shades, like Beige Mousseline below, are particularly wearable and flattering. We love.

NUDE MAGIQUE CC CREAM

£7.99, by L'Oréal Paris
A tinted cream that evens out and perks up your complexion while working on the underlying causes of irritating redness? Yes, please. This colour corrector not only solves skin issues but covers them, too. This is multi-tasking new-generation skincare at its best.
