Aurelia Probiotic Skincare is an award-winning British skincare company founded in 2013 by dermatology expert Claire Vero. This scientifically-proven, natural, evidence-based skincare line works by helping to manage the level of inflammation within the skin, the main cause of skin ageing. Aurelia Probiotic Skincare fuses revolutionary, next-generation probiotic technology with ethically-sourced 100% BioOrganic botanicals.

"I have spent many hours in the lab to ensure the science behind Aurelia Probiotic Skincare offers women the best age prevention technology out there and feel very excited about how this can help all women to retain their natural youthful radiance.

I loved tweaking and refining our prototype formulations until they were just right: the perfect balance between science, nature and luxury."
